Granny's house turned out
to be a bust,
I hit the road and left the hunter in the dust.

I got kicked right out of Granny's bed
I never even said goodbye
to Little Red,

My throat was still sore and
my nose was stuffy, My breath came out all
huffy and puffy.

I needed a warm home
and a good meal,
I was hoping the Little Pigs
would make a deal.

Their mama told them it was time to roam,
She sent them out to build their own homes.

She told them to find a nice quiet lane,
And build a strong house to protect against the wind and rain.
